

Harry, We are a small recycling company and have need of a device to test plastics for different grades. i.

Written by Russell Glaze

Wednesday, 07 May 2008 17:52 - Last revised Friday, 18 July 2008

Hi guys - Thanks for the question. I'm very sorry for the delay in getting back to you. A melt indexer is one of the more economical ways of determining flow rates of plastics.